

February – March 2017 Alerts and Updates:

1. FCC Warns warns consumers about new ‘Yes’ phone scam

<http://abcnews.go.com/Business/fcc-warns-consumers-phone-scam/story?id=46405703>

The “Yes” phone scam, where the scammer asks if you can hear them and then records your answer of “yes” to use in identity hacks. The best advice from the FCC (and us): Don’t answer calls from unknown numbers. Let them go to voicemail.

2. Latest RoboCall Scam Claims Your License Has Expired

<http://blog.idwatchdog.com/index.php/2016/10/13/latest-robocall-scam-claims-your-license-has-expired/>

Robo calls that warn you that your Microsoft License has Expired. This one came out last Fall, but a customer called us about it this week (and then we got the same exact call on our phone as well). Microsoft will NOT make unsolicited phone calls about an expired license.

3. Google Just Introduced Family Link to Help Manage Your Kids’ Digital Lives

<http://www.parents.com/parents-magazine/parents-perspective/google-just-introduced-family-link-to-help-manage-your-kids>

Manage your children’s online access on Android devices with this new tool from Google.

4. The latest Windows update will make you want to use Microsoft Paint again

<https://www.wired.com/2017/03/windows-10-creators-update>

Windows 10 update is coming in April and you can get a preview of new features in this post.